

Online Certificate in Global Crime and Justice
-Credit programming over 48 hours-

Promotional Material

Facebook and LinkedIn ads

A screenshot of a Facebook post from the Centre for Public Safety and Well-Being. The post is promoted and features a blue-tinted image of a golden scale of justice over a globe. The text of the post reads: "Looking for a university credential? Laurier's online certificate in Global Crime and Justice is offered in collaboration with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime." Below the image, the post title is "Online Certificate in Global Crime and Justice" with a "Learn more" button and the URL "wlu.ca". The interaction bar shows "Like", "Comment", "Share", and "Send" options. A comment box at the bottom is partially visible, showing "Comment as Centre for Public Safety and Well-Being...".

A screenshot of a LinkedIn post from the Centre for Public Safety and Well-Being. The post is 1 month old and features a blue-tinted image of a golden scale of justice over a globe. The text of the post reads: "Wilfrid Laurier University's Faculty of Human and Social Sciences and Centre for Public Safety and Well-Being have collaborated with the UNODC's Education for Justice (E4J) initiative. We are interested in empowering the next generation of leaders, policymakers, managers and entrepreneurs to become the world's next global justice changemakers. For more information go to <https://conta.cc/3xLloMv>". Below the text, there is a list of hashtags: "#unodc #globalcrimeandjustice #wlu #e4j #cpswlu #education4justice #laurier #canada #justice #changemakers #crimeprevention #lawfulness #bethechange #humanrights #socialimpact #certificate #laurier".

NEWS RELEASE

James Popham, Program Coordinator, Global Crime and Justice Centre for Public Safety and Well-Being jpopham@wlu.ca

Beth Gurney, Associate Director, Communications and Public Affairs, Wilfrid Laurier University, Brantford campus bgurney@wlu.ca

JUNE 29, 2020 | 055-20

Laurier launches Global Crime and Justice program in collaboration with United Nations Office of Drugs and Crime

BRANTFORD – Wilfrid Laurier University’s Faculty of Human and Social Sciences and Centre for Public Safety and Well-Being have collaborated with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) to launch a new online undergraduate certificate program, Global Crime and Justice.

Through the collaboration, Laurier is committing to use education as a tool for preventing crime and corruption around the world, as well as empowering the next generation to make a positive and sustainable impact on criminal justice and corruption prevention.

The certificate program is based on modules created by the UNODC’s Education for Justice (E4J) initiative, which seeks to prevent crime and promote a culture of lawfulness through education. The modules were designed by more than 600 academics and experts from around the world, including Laurier.

“Laurier is excited to collaborate with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to offer this program for students and professionals,” says James Popham, program coordinator and E4J cybercrime module contributor. “Governments around the world are developing partnerships in response to international justice issues such as cybercrime and human trafficking. Our program will help prepare students to engage with these issues by introducing them to international perspectives.”

Students registering for the Global Crime and Justice program will select online courses from a wide range of topics, including counter-terrorism, trafficking and anti-corruption. Each online course takes place over six weeks. The certificate program – which requires students to earn 2.0 credits (approximately 10 per cent of a four-year honours degree) – is open to honours or general undergraduate students at Laurier, students from other universities, and prospective students not currently attending university. The certificate can be earned in conjunction with a degree at Laurier.

Global Crime and Justice courses begin in fall 2020, with application and registration now open. For more information about the program, visit wlu.ca/cpsw/global-crime-and-justice.

Online Certificate in Global Crime and Justice

-Credit programming over 48 hours-

Promotional Poster

The Doha Declaration:
PROMOTING A CULTURE OF LAWFULNESS

Online Certificate in Global Crime and Justice

Laurier's online certificate in Global Crime and Justice collaborates with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) based on modules created by the Education for Justice (E4J) initiative. E4J's purpose is to empower the next generation of leaders, policymakers, managers and entrepreneurs to become the world's next global justice change-makers.

- Course material designed by more than 600 academics and experts from around the globe
- Empowers young people from around the world to achieve a positive and sustainable impact on criminal justice and corruption prevention
- Fosters knowledge about equality, human rights and diversity, social justice and the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals
- Students choose 8 of 10 courses; 6 weeks in length
- Certificate can be completed in as little as two terms, part-time
- Opens doors to working with international agencies and non-governmental organizations

Interdisciplinary Courses

UNDC100 Introduction to the UNODC
UNDC101 Integrity and Ethics
UNDC102 Crime Prevention & Criminal Justice
UNDC103 Trafficking in Persons/Smuggling of Migrants
UNDC200 Anti-Corruption
UNDC201 Transnational Organized Crime
UNDC202 Illicit Misuse and Trafficking of Firearms
UNDC203 Digital Technologies and Crime
UNDC204 Wildlife, Forest & Fisheries Crime
UNDC205 Counter-Terrorism

wlu.ca/cpsw/global-crime-and-justice

